DEVELOPMENT OF ANTHROPOLOGICAL THOUGHT

What do we mean when we use the term “theory” in social science in general, and in anthropology specifically? How does social science theory compare to theory in natural science? What is theory good for? Does it actually help us to understand social phenomena? How can we discern theoretical points of view in research presentations (book length ethnographies, journal articles, conference papers and posters)? Do theoretical perspectives of authors color their interpretation of data? How do we employ theory in our own research? How do implicit “ways of knowing” guide our own thinking about social phenomena?

We will ponder these questions as we trace the development of anthropological theory from its 19th century origins into the present day. By the end of this course I hope that you will have working answers that will inspire you to further study. No theory is disembodied; it emerges out of specific cultural, historical, and geographical contexts. As we study the writing of our most influential anthropological predecessors, I ask you to remind yourselves of this context in order that you might develop a more holistic understanding of their ideas.

Through reading, discussion, informal and formal writing in this class you will:

- Learn some key concepts in anthropological theory and
- Identify the authors associated with those key ideas
- Understand the impact of historical and cultural contexts on the emergence of theories
- Contextualize key authors—how did they influence major theoretical "schools?” How did developments in society influence them?
- Compare and contrast different theoretical perspectives
- Analyze concepts from theory

TEXTBOOK:

R. Jon McGee and Richard L. Warms
OTHER REQUIRED READING:
All material listed on the syllabus is required. Readings that are not in McGee & Warms are posted on Blackboard. Download and print out all readings. Bring “McGee and Warms” and/or other current reading to class.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS
All assignments, except as otherwise specified, are due on Thursday of the given course week, at 11:59 PM.

1) Take-home exams:
- Take home #1: Thursday, February 23, 11:59 PM
- Take home #2: Thursday, March 23, 11:59 PM
- Take home #3: Thursday, April 13, 11:59 PM
- Take home #4: Monday, May 8, 11:59 PM

2) “Anthropology & Me” Paper
- 4-5 pages must be submitted to Turnitin by 11:59 PM, Thursday, April 27. In this essay you will address some aspect of anthropology theory/social that you encounter outside of this class. I will provide more detail in a separate document.

3) Miscellaneous “pop” assignments: Exactly what this says.

4) Blackboard Discussions:
- Students will be randomly assigned to “Discussion groups” in Blackboard Learn. Beginning the week of January 30, there will be two required discussion posts weekly:
  1. The first should be posted at least ½ hour before class on each Wednesday. This must be your “reaction” to the reading – approximately 150-250 words. See “Online Discussions in Anthropology 4021” for more detail.
  2. The second should be posted at least ½ hour before class on each Friday – This will be your response to the members of your Discussion group’s reactions – approximately 100 words.
- You will receive 6 points for each day’s post for a total of 12 points weekly. Late posts will receive 0 points, no exceptions. There are 26 opportunities to post over the semester, so you can skip two posts without being penalized. You will not be able to receive an ‘A’ in this class without regularly participating in this requirement.

Anthropology Department Undergraduate Plagiarism Policy
Plagiarism is defined as misrepresenting the work of others (whether published or not) as your own. It may be inadvertent or intentional. You should always provide references for any facts, statistics, quotations, or paraphrasing of information that are not common knowledge. The Department of Anthropology does not tolerate plagiarism or any other form of academic dishonesty. Students suspected of academic dishonesty will be given a hearing in which they are informed of the charges. Clear evidence in support of the charge will merit failure in the course. For more information on the university’s policies regarding academic integrity and dishonesty, see the Center for Student Rights and Responsibilities at http://www.unt.edu/csrr/.

COURSE POLICIES

1. Unless told otherwise, submit all written assignments for this class to Turnitin, via Blackboard. After submitting via Turnitin, you should receive an email documentation of their submission. If you didn’t receive an email from Turnitin, something went wrong and you need to resubmit it. (So try again. Ask the Blackboard help desk for assistance if necessary.) We will not accept papers submitted via email OR hard copy. All works submitted for credit must be original works created by you uniquely for this class (see Plagiarism Policy, p. 2)

2. PERSONAL DUE DATES: Those of you who have taken classes with me before know that I am flexible about when papers may be handed in, in order to accommodate the sometimes pressing multiple demands of your lives. If you cannot hand in an assignment when it is due, you may establish a “personal due date” that is WITHIN 2 WEEKS of the assignment’s due date. In order to make your personal due date official, please send an email to me and cc: Azure with the new date clearly stated on it. No excuses are necessary. You cannot request another personal due date until you have submitted the assignment for which you originally requested one. Papers not submitted by two weeks after the assignment is due will receive a failing (gasp!) grade. No exceptions, except documented health excuses.

3. EMAIL POLICY: Use your my.unt.edu email account. Use your my.unt.edu email account. Use my.unt.edu email account. Put your full name and ANTH 4021 in the subject line (I have too many students this semester). Much as I care about you, I would prefer not to receive emails when you can’t make it to class, for whatever reason. I would much rather see you in class. If you are absent for an extended period of time, trust me, I'll be aware of it. If you have a medical situation or a family emergency for your extended absence, please DO let me and Azure know.

4. COMMUNICATION POLICY: you must check your my.unt.edu email account every day. We will not accept any excuses. All announcements posted on Blackboard you will also receive as emails, too. Azure and I will reply to emails within 24 hours, or 48 hours if the email is sent over the weekend. This means if you send an email to us after 5 PM on any given workday, don’t expect us to have read it before 5 PM the next day. If you send something on Friday, don’t expect us to have read it until Monday. We will extend the same courtesy to you.

5. ATTENDANCE and PARTICIPATION (online) POLICY: Students who do well in this class attend class regularly and blog faithfully. Though we do not take formal attendance except at the beginning of the semester when I have to hand in paperwork to the Registrar’s Office, we notice who is present. This UNT policy statement, found here, states that:

any instructor who informs students in writing about the necessity of class attendance may request of the Registrar that a student be dropped from the course with a grade of WF upon the accumulation of the stated number of absences. Instructor drops for non-attendance may be processed up to two weeks prior to the first day of final examinations for fall or spring terms/semesters and equivalent dates for summer sessions. Refer to www.unt.edu/catalog for more information. Departments and similar academic units have authority to establish a department or course attendance policy, so long as the policy is in accord with the above stipulations. If the instructor-initiated drop action falls within the time the student is eligible to drop with instructor consent and without penalty, the Registrar’s Office notifies the student that a WF will be recorded unless the student initiates the drop procedure, in which case a W will be assigned.

Therefore, I reserve the right to drop you from the class. If you fail to participate in
A. Blackboard discussions for more than two successive weeks
OR
B. are absent from class more than 4 TIMES IN A ROW without notification,
I WILL DROP YOU FROM CLASS FOR LACK OF PARTICIPATION.
