

SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATION FOR MASTER'S IN APPLIED ANTHROPOLOGY

Eligibility: The anthropology department has a limited number of scholarships of $1,000 and $5,000 each per academic year. In order to be eligible, students must be in their first year of graduate study and enrolled in 9 credit hours per semester for on-campus students or 6 credit hours per semester for on-line students.

Submission: Students interested in applying for scholarships must submit this application with their application for admission by February 1st for the Fall term. Incomplete applications will not be considered.

Name in full:

UNT Student ID #

Mailing Address:

Phone:

Date you plan to enter program:

Email:

Please answer the following question on additional sheets of paper:

1. Please describe your extra-curricular activities, past and present, related to the field of anthropology. Possibilities include (but are not limited to) participation in an anthropology club, attendance and work at any anthropology related events, field trips, tutoring in anthropology classes, participation in archaeological excavations, work at museums or zoos, research, community activities or service, attending conferences, teaching, writing about anthropology, applied anthropology projects, and promotion of anthropology in any form. Please interpret the relationship to anthropology in a very broad sense; even if an activity is associated with a different discipline, it should be listed if it relates to or overlaps with anthropology.